

As-salamu Alaikum Wa-Rahamat Allah,

We Muslims often imagine that Miracles in the Quran are only meant to be stories of the past and can't happen during our time. For example, when Yusuf A.S. asked his brothers to cast his shirt onto his father's face so that his father can see again, we mostly either think that it was a onetime miracle or that it belongs to those two prophets A.S. and can't happen to average believers.

Yet if one truly believes that the Holy Quran is good for all times, one must realize and accept that such stories are mentioned in the Quran so that we benefit from them forever.

My sister in Jordan who believes as I do that the Quran, and all of its stories are good for all times, had such a miracle happen to a related child about a month ago. My sister is highly educated and holds what is equivalent to an MBA in the US. Her husband, who is part of this story, is a lawyer.

My sister's husband's brother – my sister's brother in law – has a son who was born 4.5 years ago. He was diagnosed with spinal-bifida ( See webmd.com). Naturally, his parents tried everything they can to treat the boy but spinal-bifida is not treatable.

My sister and her husband asked for a chance to treat him so they took the boy to a specialist in Jordan where medicine is known to be advanced. This specialist said that the boy has to live with his condition and that she – the doctor – can't do anything for him. My sister and her husband decided to go to the shrine of Jaffer Ibn Abi Taleb ( AKA Jaffer At-tayar or Jaffer the flyer ), which is located in Mu'ta Jordan. There, they prayed to Allah by Jaffer Ibn Abi Taleb to help this boy. They knew that a Shaheed is indeed alive and thus they spoke to Jaffer and asked him to pray to Allah to help this boy. Shortly thereafter, the boy started walking normally, and all signs of his condition disappeared.

My sister now has a dilemma. People are asking her the name of the doctor she took the boy to; if she tells them the story some Sheikhs will tell her that what she did was not permitted in Islam, while others will simply not believe the story.

My sister's email message in Arabic with some of the details is attached below. Please email me if you have questions about this amazing story.
